Language of Swans is Joe Giardullo's second recording for Drimala and a world apart from his previous sold-out release. Here Joe is relaxed, the sound is easy and flowing with a seeming casualness that belies the intensity of effort. The compositions explore the metaphor of nature's language using the elegance of swans as a foil for the exploration.

"Language of Swan is a tour de force." – Steve Vickery, Coda

"Prepare to be transported." – All About Jazz-New York

"There are no written melodies, and while the tunes are thoroughly improvised, they are nonetheless paragons of beauty, exhibiting a natural attraction even if not recognizable." – All Music Guide, 4 stars

"Seven extraordinary tracks." – jazzreview.com

"Just think about serenity, awareness of life and a little bit of primordial energy." – Massimo Ricci (Italy)

"Brings to mind Albert Ayler at his most beatific." – The Wire (England)
